

Namika Mahmoodi joined BACH as a career coach in May 2017. She received her Masters from Johns Hopkins University, School of Education in counseling. She has worked in Baltimore county public schools and is currently pursuing her license to be a licensed graduate professional counselor. She will be working with clients in Baltimore city and coaching them for career readiness and job placement through BACH's different programs and initiatives.